Paraiba (Pronounced: para-e-ba) has color described as NEON or ELECTRIC! The gems we offer are the original, Genuine Brazilian Paraiba, First discovered in Mina da Batalha in Sao Jose da Batalha, State of Paraiba, Brazil, it is also among the rarest gems in the world. These gems were purchased many years ago, direct from the mine owner! In addition, each one of our gems has been GIA Certified as Brazilian Origin! That certificate is solid PROOF of Origin and of paramount importance, as there have been new discoveries from Nigeria and Mozambique. These new finds still contain copper which is the main element that makes this incredible color. African gems however lack the intensity of color (chroma) and also contain minute amounts of lead, distinguishing them from Brazilian gems. Each one of our gems has been analyzed and a GIA Cert is delivered with the gem. There is no better provenance. Period!

We fell in love with these electric beauties 26 years ago. Now we're downsizing; don't miss this once-in-a-lifetime offer...when these are gone – they're gone! Rick has faceted a few of these rare crystals. Although faceting adds sparkle, a lot of color is destroyed in cutting. Paraiba is all about the color and owning a Paraiba with this intense color, will make your heart pound! Also note that Paraiba is a GIA type III Gem, and is NOT graded for clarity. We hand selected our gems with clarity and color in mind and these are facet grade and have some flaws which are typical as noted above.

Email first to insure the gem you want is available. Prices include USPS shipping and insurance in USA. As with all our gems, our Paraiba is 100% satisfaction guaranteed and may be returned within 7 days for a full refund.*

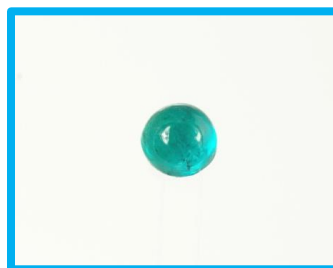

Every gem also comes with its own GIA Certificate stating Brazilian origin.
